SUMMARY OF ST. LOUIS MARKETS.

With all other domestic markets closed trading on the local exchange was extremely Aght yesterday. In a speculative way there was little excuse for a session, but the cash traders had the floor and their wishes could not be ignored. Naturally there was practically nothing in the way of news to affect the market either way. Though Liverpool was slightly easier, the decline was not greater than might have been expected in view of the previous day's closing figures on this side. Receipts of wheat were moderate and the cash demand was good. Prices were stendy.

In corn interest centered in the Dec. option, which was well supported by the Cleage contingent. Settlements were made on a basis of 45c, and more was wanted at a higher price. May closed steady. May wheat opened 1-16c off and closed unchanged.

May corn opened 1-16c up and closed unchanged.

May outs closed lic off. Receipts of produce were fair, but the demand was good and prices were generally

Local securities were well supported. Bank issues were especially well taken. Yesterday's bank clearings were $5,536,189, balances $681,500. Discount rates were steady between 5 and 6 per cent. Spot cotton was quiet and unchanged in the local market.

New York, Dec. 24.—Live poultry—Receipts to-day were 7 cars Western and 1 car Southwestern. The market ruled slow but steady at 12c on fowls and 8c on old roosters. Turkeys cleaned up pretty closely. Ducks and geese held steady at full prices. Pigeons unchanged.

Bressed Poultry—Receipts to-day 2,505 pkgs. The demand for christmas over, prices were maintained at a higher point than for several years. The market was by no means a satisfactory one, which was duly ascribed to the late advance in prices to a point which made it impossible for retail dedlers to see any margin of profit ahead, and as a result the latter bought very sparingly, and the market ruled weak and vacillating from start to finish, with considerable stock having to go into freezers, in absence of any other outlet. Arrivals since Monday were 20,137 pkgs. against 22,535 on the three corresponding days before the holidays last year. To day the weather was one and favorable but. To day the weather was cool and favorable, but, with a considerable quantity of miscellaneous turkers on the market that were not good enough to freeze, reservers offered fairty useful lots at from 1891%, while 18c was all that could be realized on the very finest marks and many lots found their way into freezers in absence of any other outlet. Considerable stock was due but not expected before Friday and market closed quiet and stendy on strictly prime stock.

There has been a large quantity of chickens and fowls dragging since first of this and last week, and while they were offered at very low prices it was impossible to attract buyers, and the only outlet was to freeze the sicke and some of the local freezers have notified their patrons that their limit is reached. Justice Boyne, With Attorneys, Views Animal in Order to Settle Ownership.

The color of a hog's feet settled a hardfought legal battle before Justice of the Peace G. A. Boyne of East St. Louis yesterday morning after pending in his court for aimost a week. Justice Boyne, accompanied by Attorney Frank C. Smith, for the defense, and Dan McGlynn, for the piaintiff, examined the hog, and as a result Judge Boyne decided the case in favor of the defendant.

About three weeks ago A. Mandville of Fliteenth and Walnut streets missed a hog, which was valued at M. church streets. Almodylic began a suit of replevin in Justice Boyne's court. A dezen witnesses on each side were examined and all swore as to their knowledge of the ownership of the hog.

After hearing the evidence and the arguments of the attorneys Judge Boyne thought that pernaps he would have to emuiate the example of Solomon and threaten to divide the hog between the principals. As a last resort, Judge Boyne decided to inspect the hog.

The Jones witnesses testified that the hog had black feet and those of Mandville testified that the hog had white feet. Judge Boyne, accompanied by the attorneys and the principals went to the Jones hame and there examined the hog whose ownership was disputed.

The hog had black feet, and on this ground Judge Boyne decided the case in favor of Jones, the defendant. The costs of the case, which amounted to almost $50, were assessed against the plaintiff.
